Dear Mamma

It is with much pleasure I inform you how we have been since we left home, as you express yourself anxious to hear from us: we have enjoyed our health remarkably well, the situation of the school being so good. We were at the races the three days, and were much pleased, there was a boat on four wheels, drawn by horses, and had two little mast, a sail, and shorn cannons painted on it. Capt Bell was kind enough to let me have his horse the last day, and John had papers. The silver cup was hung in the strand, and one of the officers showed it to nearly all the gentlemen out the course. I have nothing more to say at present but trust this will find you in good health. Give our love to all at home. Please to accept our duty, and believe me to be.

Dear Mamma
